On February 9, 1992,

Lakehead University graduate Lyn McLeod became the 22nd Leader of the Ontario Liberal Party as the result of an exciting five ballot contest at the party's leadership convention in Hamilton. Her victory followed a distinguished career of public service.

Following her graduation from the University of Manitoba, where she majored in English and French literature, she and her husband Neil, a native of Fort William, chose to make their home in Thunder Bay. In 1968 she became a Trustee on the Lakehead Board of Education, where she served 17 years, including seven years as Chair of the Board. In recognition of her outstanding contribution to education, the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation presented her with the prestigious Lamp of Learning Award in 1979.

Lyn returned to school in 1983. She earned an honours degree in Psychology from Lakehead University in 1984 and was awarded the Dean's medal as the highest-ranking student in her program. At Convocation 1986, Lyn received her MA in Psychology from Lakehead University. In 1987 she participated in Convocation as a member of the Board of Governors. Later that same year

Lyn McLeod 1993 Alumni Honour Award Recipient

In recognition of outstanding achievements both locally and provincially in the fields of Politics, Education and Social Services

she was elected to represent the riding of Fort William and attended Convocation 1988 as Minister of Colleges and Universities.

In 1989, Lyn was appointed to two demanding portfolios: Minister of Natural Resources and Minister of Energy. She also served on the Policy and Priorities Board of Cabinet.

Lyn was re-elected in 1990 and served as Community and Social Services Critic for the Official Opposition before becoming Leader.

Lyn and her husband, Dr. Neil McLeod, have four daughters: Dana, Robin, Dara, and Kristen.

"I ran for the leadership of our party for the same reason that I first ran for the School Board in Fort William, because I believe that politics matters to people and because I believe that through politics you can make a difference. Lakehead University, through its faculty and staff, its students and, most certainly, its alumni, is also most decidedly making a difference. I am indeed proud to be one of your honourees."

Small is "In"

Lakehead University continues to benefit from a continuing trend wherein students are applying in larger numbers to the province's smaller universities.

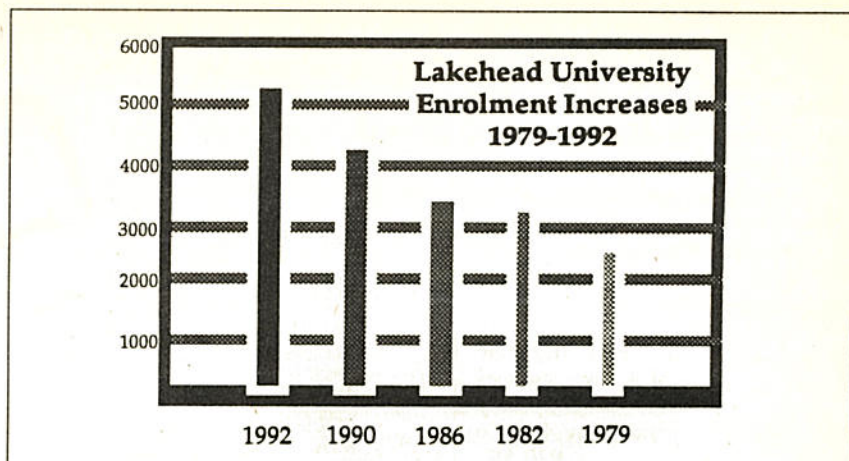

Applications from high school students to LU have increased 18.4% (1,224 vs 1,034), the highest increase of the sixteen Ontario universities. This increase follows on the heels of a 25% increase in applications last year and five years of record enrolments at Lakehead University. The university's full-time enrolment reached 5,301 on November 1, 1992, an increase of 12.7% (5,301 vs 4,705) over the previous year's full-time enrolment.

To accommodate yet another anticipated record enrolment for September, 1993, the University is undertaking a comprehensive review of its timetable and room utilization systems with a view to improving the university's space utilization. □

1995 Nordic World Ski Championships and University Research

Lakehead University has a role to play in encouraging research connected with the 1995 Nordic World Ski Championships to be held in Thunder Bay from March 9 to 19, 1995. The newly-established Nordic Championships Research Centre (NCRC) has three main goals: to encourage research projects focused on the Nordic World Ski Championships, to facilitate an efficient research process, and to support cooperative and/or collaborative activity. The NCRC will comprise a network of Research Associates and a working committee.

Benefits of membership in the NCRC include:

- opportunities to share resources, workloads and research
- assistance and advice in obtaining necessary approvals for research access to an information network
- links to the Nordic World Ski Championships Organizing Committee
- a profile as a member of a research "centre of excellence"
- links to internal and external groups and individuals

For information contact Dr. Moira McPherson in the School of Physical Education and Athletics at (807) 343-8544.

Close to 100 skiers turned out under sunny skies at Big Thunder last March to participate in Ski for Hope 1993, a family event that raised close to $16,000 for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind and the LU Alumni Association. Lakehead's share of the proceeds have been designated to the University's Learning Assistance Centre. Attending the cheque presentation on campus were (left to right) Dr. Robert Rosehart, Gilda Pang-Allard, District Administrator, CNIB, Linda Hill, Chair of the Volunteer Organizing Committee, Don Sutton (BA '67), Treasurer of the Alumni Association and Alastair MacKay (HBA '72), Marketing and Special Projects Manager, CKPR/94FM. The event was sponsored by Ernst & Young and supported by many local businesses including 580 CKPR and 94FM, Bearskin Airlines, Coca-Cola Bottling, Robin's Donuts and Versa Food Services.

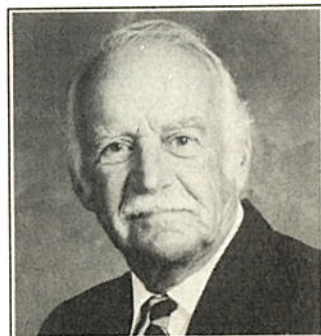

Funding for Aboriginal Education & Training - Is It Enough?

Lakehead University and Confederation College will receive $668,000 from the Province of Ontario to develop programs and services for Aboriginal people from the province's Aboriginal Education and Training Strategy which was introduced in May, 1991.

While the funding totals are up province-wide over last year's figures, University officials and members of the Aboriginal Management Committee are concerned that LU's reduced funding will affect the Native Studies degree program.

Lakehead University will receive $223,700 to support six projects, including funding to help meet the costs of delivering the Native Teacher Education Program.

- Agora, April 1993

Order of Ontario

Dr. William G. Tamblyn, the founding president of LU, has been awarded the Order of Ontario. He was the only recipient from Northwestern Ontario among 21 winners who received citations at Queen's Park last May.

Dr. Tamblyn was President and Vice-Chancellor from 1965 to 1972 and under his leadership, Lakehead grew from a small college into a full university.

Alumni Profile

Jim Jack Harmony On Stage and Off

by Carol Bold
(HBA '88)

High school teacher Jim Jack has been making music with his students for 20 years. And recently, his career is hitting some high notes.

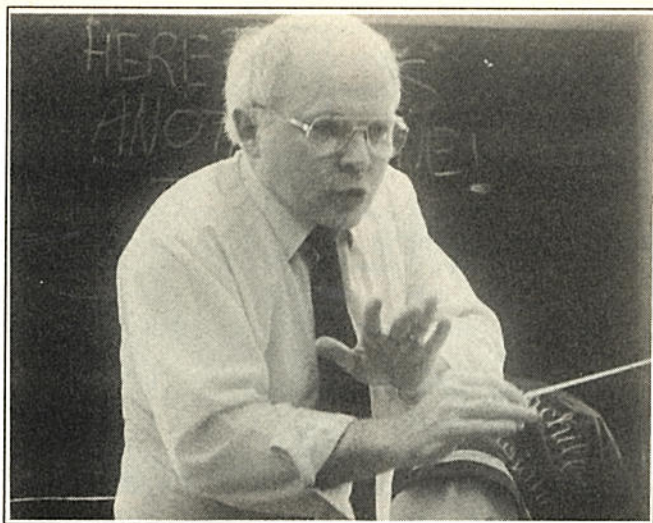

Since 1987, he has been the head of Sir Winston Churchill school's music department. Jack's passion for music, combined with his students' commitment to excellence, have allowed Churchill High to scale new heights in the high school music scene.

Its bands have won awards at the '93 Lakehead Music Festival, the '93 Winnipeg Assiniboine Festival, the '91 Minneapolis Gateway Festival and, most impressively, the students received two honours at Music Fest Canada - an event which sets national standards of performance excellence.

"It's quite remarkable for (a band from) an isolated community like Thunder Bay to be accepted and to perform at that level," said Jack, a native of Hartney, Manitoba.

"The Churchill Senior Band is the only group in Thunder Bay that has performed twice in the national competition. They won a bronze award in 1990 and in 1992. I'm very proud of that."

So, what is the key to Jack's success in leading his students to critical acclaim? Harmony. Not only the one heard on stage during performances, but the one nurtured in the relationship between a teacher and students.

"The students and I really do appreciate one another and there is a mutual respect for what we do," said Jack.

"We work well together because they know I'm committed to them and the standard of music we want to provide."

Jack, 45, has been committed to high school music instruction since graduating from Lakehead University's Faculty of Education in 1972 with a Bachelor of Education degree in History and Physical Education.

That year, he moved to Southern Ontario when he was offered a teaching position in Cobourg, Ontario.

He was hired as a history teacher with Cobourg District Collegiate Institute East, but his contract stipulated that he conduct two periods of music, daily.

Although Jack had acquired his grade six piano credentials as a teenager growing in the small farming community of Stayner, Ontario, he never considered himself qualified to teach music. Nor, did he ever believe it would become his forte.

But, with the support and indoctrination from William Ramsey, the head of Cobourg District Collegiate's music department, Jack adopted the teaching philosophy and musical passions that inspire him today.

"William Ramsey taught me a real love of music. He made me feel music was an important part of my life -- anybody's life," Jack said.

"And, he taught me to teach the student, not the subject matter."

In 1982, after responding to a national advertisement in The Globe and Mail, Jack left the Collegiate to undertake a position as a senior music teacher at Westgate High school in Thunder Bay.

He regards that opportunity as one of the most serendipitous moments of his career.

"I was not a music specialist and was not (in my own mind) qualified to take on the position ... I was quite surprised to even get an interview."

Jack's five years at Westgate enabled him to acquire a new level of admiration for music students.

"I have never met students who were so devoted to music, than when I came to Thunder Bay", Jack said.

"Music class was more than just a social activity for the students. There was a real emphasis on performance and excellence established here."

After settling into his new job, Jack began sharpening his own professional standards.

He returned to Lakehead University as a part-time student in 1982. In 1985, two years before accepting his current posting at Churchill High, he earned his music specialist qualifications.

Even though he teaches eight ensembles at Churchill by day, volunteers for several community organizations in the evenings and weekends, and has a wife (Lisa Peto, BEd '92), two mature daughters, two dogs and two cats to spend time with, he still has one musical score to settle.

"I intend to finish my music degree from Lakehead University ...before the year 2000," he chuckled.

He's not only a member of LU's student body, but also an Alumni volunteer. As a member of LU's Share Our Northern Vision Music & Visual Arts Centre Volunteer Committee, Jack is helping to raise funds for equipment, scholarships and new initiatives in those two Departments.

And, Jack is an avid basketball fan, making personal donations to the Nor'Westers and

Alumni Events

Alumni Curling Bonspiel — There was an excellent turnout at the annual event held at the Thunder Bay Country Club and sponsored by the Financial Concept Group. Two teams which battled it out on the ice included (left to right) Lynne Peterson, Ian Hosegood, David and Lori Chow (BA/BEd '79), Mary Jones, John Rose, Dan Karam and Tony Scarcello. For more information about the Alumni Golf Tournament, see page 24.

Volunteer Appreciation Evening — Close to 80 volunteers were honoured with an evening of wine tasting and cabaret-style entertainment last April at the start of National Volunteer Recognition Week. Wine connoisseur David Bruzzese (BA '79) (left) provided a selection of fine wines while Jo-Ann Waytowich (HBA '92) (right), Glen Patterson and Marcella Smithers entertained the group with a selection of their favorite Broadway songs.

President, Lakehead University

Where is Canada Going?

Some might say to the dogs, while a few brave souls would forecast future prosperity and both public and private wealth. The truth is, no doubt, somewhere in the middle. After years of talking a good line, Canadians are going to have to work hard and practise this much hated buzz line "be globally competitive" to accomplish whatever we set as our future standard of living goals.

In a recent speech I heard given by former Alberta Premier, Peter Lougheed, he used the analogy that the "alarm clock has been ringing for some time and it is time for Canadians to wake up". The days of living strictly off our natural resources have diminished and, more and more, we must look to a knowledge-based economy.

Shown right are two telling graphs from The Economist's issue on education which clearly show the relationship between employment level and education and the value of a well-educated work force. Data for Canada also imprints the reality that the more educated you are, the less chance you have of being unemployed. As well, should you become unemployed, historically, the university graduate has had an easier time of finding work. The current economic restructuring has shaken these premises, but there is no doubt about the long-term Statistics Canada trends.

Canadians have tended, in recent years, to "let the other guy do it" when it comes to helping influence public policy. After we elect politicians, we tend to let them do their thing until the next election. Recent public support for "deficit busting" must be a welcome input for politicians as at least a public discussion has been generated (as distinct from public opinion polls). I would suggest that this is a good trend and one which every one of us should buy into - "get involved, don't take a chance on the other person". Your next chance will be the up and fast approaching federal election. The country is clearly at a dead end (not the crossroads as some would like to say), and we desperately need to jump the fence. We clearly need politicians who are willing to be inspirations, be entrepreneurial, provide leadership, and don't worry too much about public opinion polls. Anyone who doubts this should review the recent (March, 1993) CTV show on New Zealand. The parallels to Canada are scary - New Zealand, as a country, went broke.

In recent years, the traditional parties in Canada have also found that their ideologies sometimes get blurred from the realities of governing. This is not necessarily bad and reflects the good of Canadian society in balancing individual opportunities and social service with the need for a broad-based safety net. One could argue that perhaps, in recent years, the net has grown much larger while the fish have diminished in size.

I often say that academics have, by position, the right to criticize but, as well, they have the responsibility to be part of the solution. What approach do I think as a nation, a province, and a university we should take towards the future? A few closing ideas for thought:

1. As Canadians, we must get involved, speak out on issues, write letters to politicians, the media, etc.
2. We must drive our politicians to new heights of public accountability and resolve the non-productive partisan bickering that our political system seems to thrive upon.

Report from the Alumni Association

3. Canada must not forget its industrial roots in forestry, mining and manufacturing, and must focus on value-added opportunities in these sectors. Our ability to compete globally will require new commitments to research and development and, no doubt, to new entrepreneurial partnerships among industry, research institutes and universities.

4. Our new industries will be knowledge-based and rely on our "smarts". The success of firms like Microsoft (U.S.) and Northern Telecom (Canada) show that it can be done when the chemistry is right.

5. Our university expertise in economics and business administration must be more often tapped by our governments and political leaders. Not that I support their system in its entirety, but the U.S. Administration relies heavily on the university system for senior cabinet and policy leaders. This is a rarity in this country in spite of the great public investment in human resources in the university sector.

6. The "new community" will be the focal point of our human settlement activity. More and more, communities will be empowered to control their own destinies. All sectors of communities are going to have to get involved to ensure consensus is present in establishing future vision plans. Again, this will force each and every one of us to get involved and our participation will be rewarded by the products of change.

In this past year's, Maclean's survey on Canadian Universities, Lakehead University graduates placed second in the "Leaders of Tomorrow" category. Live up to your LU reputation, get involved, and make a difference!

by Betty Coates (BScN'69)
President, LU Alumni Association

Looking Back One Year Later

My first year as President of the Alumni Association has proven to be busy and exciting. In February we moved into a temporary trailer home situated beside the Evans' farmhouse (Alumni House). We are enjoying the extra space, especially the large meeting room and volunteer office.

The LU Department of External Relations has been reorganized and as a result there has been a change in personnel in the Office of Alumni Services. The Co-ordinator of Alumni Services, Frances Harding, has been replaced by Denise Bruley (HBA'89) whose job it is to look after Special Events and Volunteers. Denise is a graduate of Lakehead University and is an enthusiastic and talented addition to the Alumni Association staff. She is also knowledgeable about LU Alumni having worked as the Information Office Assistant for the last three years. Frances, who has been with the Alumni Association since 1989, has moved over to the Information Office to act as Publications Officer and will still be responsible for editing the Nor'Wester Magazine. The Alumni Services Secretary, Cathy Trojan, who has been with the Association for eight years, has moved into the Development Office to handle the deposit and receipting of donations to the University. However, the Office of Alumni

Services will still have a full-time secretary to help Denise and Scott Fortnum, the Manager of Alumni Services, handle the many activities of the Alumni Association.

Gordon Keeler was awarded our Lakehead University Alumni Award. He joins our last two scholars, Kim Clouthier and Anne Marie McMahon, who are still attending Lakehead University. We also awarded our three Silver Jubilee Scholarships, our first "Women in Engineering" Entrance Scholarship, and seventeen bursaries.

We regret that Anita Muncaster (Dip.Lib.Tech'76) and Dwight Gessie (Bus.Dip'76, BAdmin'77) have resigned from the Board of Directors due to work and personal obligations. We thank them for their years of dedication to the Association.

We welcome to the Board of Directors Mary Sacco (BA'87) and John Friday (HBA'81) who have been appointed to fill the vacant positions. (See page 30)

The student callers are being well received by the Alumni. As of April 30th, they have raised $197,495 toward the Halliday Hall Fellowship Residence/Alumni House project. Many thanks to all who have pledged their support. I invite those who have not yet been approached to consider giving toward this, our first capital building fund, which will provide your Association with a new home.

Lori Chow (BA'78/ BEd'79) and her committee are hard at work preparing for Homecoming Weekend '93 on October 22-24th. They are planning a weekend of events that will provide intellectual stimulation, as well as food and fun. We hope to see you there as we "Recapture the Pride and Remember the Promise".

Nominate a Director

Each year the Alumni Association looks for volunteers willing to assist in directing the affairs of the organization. Directors are elected for a two-year term at the Annual General Meeting on October 23, 1993.

To be eligible you must have earned a degree or diploma from Lakehead University, Lakehead College of Arts, Science and Technology, Lakehead Technical Institute or Lakehead Teachers College.

Fundraising

Fellowship Residence/Alumni House Capital Campaign

In early February a group of students returned to the phones in an effort to raise a portion of the $250,000 the Alumni Board committed to the Halliday Hall Fellowship Residence/Alumni House project. Many of these were veterans from the Annual Fund Phonathon in the fall and some were new to the phones.

Because of their efforts and your enthusiastic support, the project will become a reality. We've been making a concerted effort to contact those who were unable to give to Annual Fund this year. At our year end (April 30) we had contacted 5,030 grads, received firm pledges or gifts from 1,148, and raised $197,495! We are nearly at our goal after contacting only a portion of our grads. The callers are doing a great job and LU Alumni are behind the project.

Each of our Annual Fund donors are thanked elsewhere in this issue and donors to the Fellowship Residence/Alumni House will be recognized in the future so I'll use this space to offer a special "thank you" to each of our dedicated callers:

Meseret Abebe, Chris Cannessa, Neil Christopher, Mary Beth Coates, Jennifer Frakas, Josef Frank, Glen Gosse, Chris Handfield, Guthrie Jenkins, Brad Johnson, Jim Johnson, Jason Kelder, Donna Mae Kunc, Kristin Lapier, Catherine MacIssac, Robert Mason, "Jazzy" Mhajan, Adam Molai, Kevin Reid, Jamie Swanson, Cindy Tisdall, Marcie Trainor, and Roxanne Gaspari for helping us with the paperwork, and our two wonderful Coaches, Susan Hazuda and Michelle Wywrot.

All Lakehead students, this group is committed to the continued development of their University. One of the callers summed things up quite well: "We're helping to make Lakehead a better place, and that makes it all worthwhile".

So callers, on behalf of the entire University community - Thank you. ☐ attending all home games. "I love what LU has done for basketball. It's exciting."

Regardless of whether or not he earns his music BA, Jack has already developed a level of personal satisfaction in his career that many people never achieve.

"As a high school music teacher, I have direct contact with my students. And, the students and I immediately know when they're being successful."

"That instant sense of gratification is one of the most exciting aspects of what I do." ☐

Alumni Profile

Bill McDermott Management Consultant and LU Volunteer

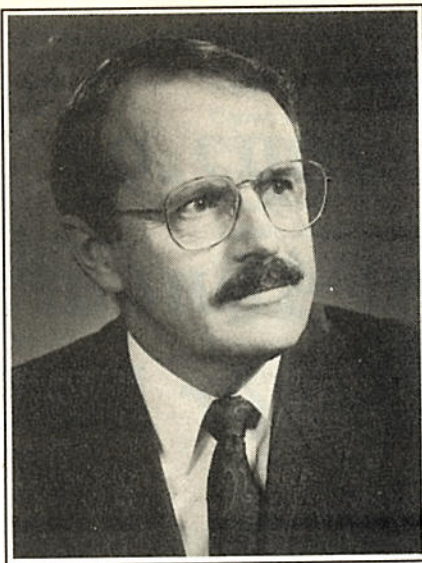

by Nancy Angus
(BA'81)

Bill McDermott's accomplishments are listed in the 1992 edition of the Canadian Who's Who. Many of those accomplishments centre around McDermott's involvement with Lakehead University as a student, employee and now member of the Share Our Northern Vision Campaign Cabinet.

Back in the 1970s, McDermott worked in the LU Registrar's office and started taking evening classes towards an English degree. With his BA behind him, Bill enrolled in the graduate diploma in Business Administration program. The opportunity to combine academic pursuits with a full-time job was the perfect learning opportunity for business. In fact, McDermott uses an example of an LU project in many of his management consulting jobs today.

"We were developing a new students records system in the Registrar's office, and as a part of my business project we involved a number of the workers in developing the system that they would have to use everyday," says McDermott. The workers had a major impact on improving the records system and that example was a turning point in McDermott's business career. "It enlightened me that people -- all employees, not just management -- really make the difference in business decisions."

McDermott continued with his business studies and moved to Toronto where he eventually became a partner first with Peat Marwick Stevenson and Kellogg and then Price Waterhouse. Today, as president of McDermott Group Inc., a management consulting firm with a focus on financial institutions and governments, McDermott oversees two offices in Halifax and Toronto. Connections with southern Ontario financial institutions encouraged LU President, Bob Rosehart, and Director of External Relations, John Russell, to approach Bill as a possible member of the Share Our Northern Vision Campaign Cabinet.

As a member of the Campaign Cabinet, McDermott sees his role as increasing the awareness of Lakehead University in corporate Toronto. "I come across Boards where many of the members' sons and daughters have attended LU," says McDermott. McDermott is pleased with how the campaign is going and finds the uniqueness of LU one of the greatest selling points. "The native programs, Forestry, and transition programs are of interest to funders," he says.

Bill McDermott has many fond memories of his years as student and employee of Lakehead University. Working in the records office he had an opportunity to know a lot of the student issues and tried to address those issues. He even met his wife Ruby when she was working in the Fieldhouse.

The McDermotts live in Mississauga and enjoy Blue Jay games, golf and the occasional escape to warm climates. One of Bill's favourite past times is reading -- novels by Clancy are a few of his "favs". Don't forget, there may be a MBA and a Certificate in International Finance from the International Management Institute in Geneva, Switzerland, in between, but Bill McDermott's first Lakehead University degree was a Bachelor of Arts majoring in English.

All Alumni Welcome

1992-93 Alumni Annual Fund Donor List

Thank you

We did it! The goal for the 1992-93 Alumni Annual Fund was $175,000. Thanks to your generosity the goal has been met and exceeded. The final total at April 30, 1993, was $185,832. In spite of a sluggish economy, you, our Alumni, have once again proven that Lakehead University is important to you. On behalf of all the volunteers involved and the students who will benefit from your support, thank you.

The Claude Garton Herbarium Sixty Years of Plant Collecting

by Joan Crowe, Acting Curator

The Claude Garton Herbarium at Lakehead University had its origins in Claude's personal collection of pressed plants which he started in 1933. The number of specimens was quite small (around 2000) until after World War II but from 1954 onwards he collected more intensively. By the time he retired in 1967 from his position as principal of Current River School (now Claude E. Garton School) his collection had increased to approximately 10,000. At this time, Doug Lindsay (Chairman of the Biology Department) arranged that Claude should donate his herbarium to the university and accompany it as Curator — a position he still holds at the time of writing.

Many of us can remember Claude busy with his plants in his own little corner of the Braun Building. When the Biology and Forestry Departments moved into the Centennial Building in 1969, Claude accompanied them and the herbarium was set up on the third floor opposite the double elevator (CB 3027), where it is still to be found. In the early days, students discovered an invaluable resource in Claude. Inevitably, with the coming of warm weather, he would embark on one of his many collecting trips. Whether to Greenwood Lake, Pukaskwa or the islands of Lake Nipigon, over the years he assisted many agencies in assessing the natural vegetation of their chosen area. However, he always reappeared in time for Forestry Field School.

Unfortunately, age caught up with him, and he suffered from a number of ailments so that he was often absent from the herbarium for a while. The move of Forestry back to the Braun Building also resulted in less student use of the facility. Claude finally ceased actively running the herbarium in May, 1990. At this point, the number of specimens was about 97,000, Claude's personal collection being just over 24,000. The remainder had been collected by dedicated amateurs such as Eva Beckett and Walter and Marg Hartley; by professors and students in the Biology and Forestry Departments or by exchange of replicate specimens with other institutions.

Over the years Claude made many botanical connections in Canada, the USA, Finland and, even as far afield as India and the southern hemisphere, resulting in holdings from all these areas. Through exchanges, particularly with the University of Toronto and the Fowler Herbarium at Queen's University, we have also acquired specimens dating back to the mid-nineteenth century. There are even several collected by the famous Canadian botanist John Macoun, who, curiously enough, also started his professional life as a schoolmaster. The obverse of these exchanges is, of course, that plants collected and prepared by Claude are spread all over the world and he is rightly renowned for the high quality of his specimens.

Collecting Plant Specimens

There is more to preparing a good herbarium specimen than simply picking it and stuffing it into a plastic bag. Pressing, drying and mounting were brought to a fine art by Claude, a tradition which we are trying to follow today.

please see page 23

One other unique feature of our collection is that it has a good representation of non-flowering plants, not only ferns and fern allies but also bryophytes and lichens. As the latter are good indicators of environmental health - or otherwise - this section may become increasingly important in future environmental assessments.

The herbarium is now run by the Acting Curator under the guidance of a committee drawn from the Biology and Forestry Departments. As space is limited, the present mandate is to concentrate on the area of Ontario north and west of Lake Superior.

Exchanges are being restricted to specimens relevant to that area. Regular opening hours and proper supervision are beginning to draw back students and the herbarium is being used extensively in the summer by personnel from agencies such as the Ministry of Natural Resources and the Conservation Authority. Those involved would like to see the herbarium extend its role as a clearing house for botanical information regarding this area.

Funding is very limited, although a grant has permitted a student to be hired every summer to date. Volunteer help, particularly from the Thunder Bay Field Naturalists, is invaluable. A joint collecting project with them has been in progress for two years and they have been actively involved in a new version of The Checklist of Vascular Plants of Thunder Bay District which was last revised by Claude in 1984.

Students participating in recent Botany courses have made useful contributions to the collections. The most important project at present is the recording of all label information in a data base, in order that this valuable record of distribution and habitat will be more readily available. Eventually it will be possible to produce computerized distribution maps.

The process has begun but, in order to make real progress, extra staff will be required. The on-going business of fielding enquiries, helping students and maintaining collections takes up most of the time of the summer assistant and the acting curator. We are starting to use high school Co-op students but their expertise is necessarily limited and what is really needed is a substantial one-time grant to enable us to complete the data base. We also need a team of volunteers who are sufficiently interested in Botany to devote some time to becoming expert in one group of plants: for example, grasses or sedges. Even more importantly a specialist in bryophytes and lichens would be invaluable. It is impossible for any one person to be competent in identifying everything and we are certainly never going to be able to afford to hire people even if they were available.

There is a long and honourable history of amateur involvement in Botany and one of the best examples of that is Claude. It can be said with confidence that, after 60 years, the Claude Garton Herbarium is alive and well with acquisition numbers close to 100,000. We look forward to remaining an invaluable environmental resource into the next century. □

Alumni Services

Looking for Classmates? This will Help.

Finding a former classmate can be just like looking for the proverbial "needle in a haystack". But not anymore. Soon an impressive directory of our great alumni will be available to help you locate your old friends.

The new Lakehead University Alumni Directory, scheduled for release in March/April 1994, will be the most up-to-date and complete reference on over 13,000 Lakehead University alumni ever compiled! This comprehensive volume will include current name, address and phone number, academic data, plus business information (if applicable), bound into a classic, library-quality edition.

The Office of Alumni Services has contracted the prestigious Bernard C. Harris Publishing Company, Inc. to produce our Directory. Harris will soon begin researching and compiling information to be printed in the Directory by mailing a questionnaire to each alumna/us. (If you prefer not be listed in the Directory, please contact the Alumni Office in writing as soon as possible.)

The new Lakehead University Alumni Directory will soon make finding a Lakehead University alumna/us as easy as opening a book. Look for more details on the project in future issues.

In Memoriam

The Alumni Association extends condolences to the family and friends of:

an Assistant Professor in Lakehead's Department of Social Work who was killed in a car accident last December.

Dennis Cromarty who passed away in February. Cromarty served as both Grand Chief of the Nishnawbe-Aski Nation and as CEO of the N.A.N. Development Fund. As well, he was N.A.N.'s Chief Negotiator on a variety of self-government initiatives.

While at LU, Dennis studied Political Studies and Economics.

His wife, Helen, was active on LU's Advisory Committee to the Native Entry into Nursing Program and was one of the Program's first graduates.

Frank Schaller (For.Tech'81, HBScF'86) who passed away in February after a 10-year battle with cancer. Schaller was an outstanding athlete who was a member of the national wrestling team that competed at the World University Games in Romania in 1981. During his time at Lakehead University he was an active volunteer, coaching high school wrestlers and working with young cancer patients in the community.

Bruce Seed (BED'78) who taught high school in Red Rock, Ont., and participated in Alumni events in the Red Rock/Nipigon area.

Winnie Wong, who volunteered many hours to help with office tasks at Alumni House.

Homecoming Weekend '93

Recapture the Pride . . .
Remember the Promise

October 22 - 24, 1993

Remember when we said we would keep in touch forever? Homecoming Weekend '93 is our chance to Re-ignite old friendships at the Alumni Dinner-Dance in the new Student Union Building. To Re-capture the excitement of varsity athletics at the Homecoming Basketball Game in the Thunderdome. To Re-introduce yourself to the Lakehead University of the '90's by taking a campus tour. Re-affirm your commitment to the Alumni Association by taking part in the President's Brunch & Annual General Meeting. Plan now to bring your family and friends and re-live the Lakehead Experience.
