

VERNA ROSS

I am a native of Thunder Bay. My interest in art started at an early age. I am convinced that instruction by good teachers is of immeasurable value in artistic development, therefore I continue to take courses at every opportunity. I have studied in the Fine Arts Program at Lakehead University as well as taking courses from well known Canadian and American artists such as Claude Croney, Tony Couch and Ev. Draper. I work in watercolour, oil, acrylic, brown ink and collage but find watercolour the most challenging.

In order to understand the landscape you need to experience it so feel painting on location is essential. It is impossible to get a profound perception of nature from photographs.
